C. F. MEETING
AT NIGHTINGALE

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 21st, a number of people attended the meeting of the C. F. P. at Nightingale. The chair was taken by Mr. E. M. Colwell, who presided at the first meeting. Mr. Colwell, of Kaitiaki, was the candidate for the Gloucester riding in the coming Provincial election. He said that this is the first election in which candidates have appeared before the public in person. He said that E. F. M. Colwell said that the C. F. P. is the only party with a platform, and he proceeded to present the platform, glance by glance, to the members. Mr. Colwell stated that our socialists have not advanced with the times, and that the "advanced" are "unperceived," and proceeded to show that the "advanced" are "unperceived" in the way in which they have conducted their campaign. He said that the "advanced" are "unperceived" in the way in which they have conducted their campaign. The keynote of his address was National Unity. His preference for the National Union so shall we preserve our National Strength.

We can not continue at war except a few months longer. The Government could weaken our stand with the Allies and likewise in the camps of the enemy. The Unity of Parliament must be maintained. The Government must. Extreme measures had been advocated by some of the opposition no matter what measures were used to bring this about.

The Prime Minister sought support for a government of long experience, which representation he believed was the wish of the majority of citizens.

The Government could not be indifferent to opinions expressed by Opposition politicians and carry on their war without a complete national dissolution was imperative. ALBERTA DAIRYMEN WILL HOLD CALGARY CONVENTION

T. B. Windrose

Edmonton, Feb. 5th.—It probably will be a short session of the Alberta legislature that opens this Thursday but it is likely to be a merry one if the pots.

A fight within the party is an immediate prospect because a group of the Social Credit members, long time of the political maneuverings of the premier, think that now is the time for action.

The Social Credit party's policy of trying to mix religious appeals with its politics to gain support, and the whole record of its doctrines and its real acts, critics, got a complete answer in Quebec.

The federal parliament as "strategic rather than democratic" and four days later announcing dictatorially that he would do the same with the Alberta legislature. They know that in Alberta there is no pressing issue for an election, as in the Dominion.

Insiders know that the talk about the provincial bank is more window-dressing and a lame excuse for an election. They know although Aberhart says now that the people must have a chance to express an opinion on it, an application must be made before parliament meets in April, there evidently was no such necessity prior to the session at Ottawa, which, starting last month, had been expected to last sev-

He is well versed in political matters and has been closely allied with the Conservative movement for many years.

Speaking at a recent meeting in Calgary, Dr G. D. Stanley, former Conservative M. P., told a large audience, when introducing Mr Manning, "He was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. Every step of his education and ambition was won through hard work."

In the last week from the head of the Roman Catholic church in the whole Dominion, Cardinal Villeneuve issued a statement saying that a commission of theologians studying the Social Credit doctrine had not implied any approval of Social Credit on behalf of the church. Then the prime of the church gave this public order.

In view of the uncertain character of this doctrine and the electoral exploitation which could be made, no priest or member of the clergy in the Quebec diocese will give the support to his name to Social Credit defenders organizations, and no priest or member will be allowed to attend Social Credit public meetings at all.

They know that Aberhart knows that the federal government could or would betray the people of all Canada by granting any provincial government emergency privileges to manufacture "magic money" thus ruining the value of all Canadian money. They know that a provincial bank must be controlled by the same rules as are all chartered banks, controlled by the federal parliament and the government. Those insiders know that whereas chartered banks can be sued and all their shareholders are liable to be assessed double the amount of their stockholdings in case of failure, such protection for depositors cannot exist in a introduced Mr. Liesemer, the candidate for the Federal House. Mr.

Liesemer gave an extremely interesting address. He showed the evils of monopolies and explained how certain privileges, which should belong to the people, and which at present brought benefits to a few, could be taken over by the state for the benefit of the many.
He asserted that the present system

"It is you, yourselves, who are not only the masters of parliament but, as never before, masters of your own fate. I say to you that never have the Canadian people been called upon to make so serious a decision."

The Premier stated he had made National Unity the supreme endeavor of his life. He said that Canada was the country which should be otherwise.

He had been urged to call an election last July and again last Fall. Knowing the distressful condition of European affairs, he had refrained

The Alberta Dairymen's Association will meet in Calgary in annual convention on February 14, 15 and 16 at the Palliser Hotel. All sections of the Association will hold their annual meetings and a number of general sessions will be held as well.

Outstanding speakers from eastern and western Canada will appear in the programme, and special attention will be given to the Dairy Industry as it is affected by the war. Reports will be presented on experimental work being conducted by the Dominion Department of Agriculture and the University of Alberta.

PRESENTATION TO

MITCHELL HEPBURN
Premier of Ontario

Certain members of the Alberta legislature who have remained since the election on which they were elected, have been asked to resign. The Premier, in a letter, is asking them to resign, saying that he is carrying on, want to show when they stand. Those members have been asked to sit on the government benches, and the house and in the caucus during the past three years because they believed they could exert more influence there than from across a floor.

The pledges of "unity", however, were remained in force. But now the cause is about to be dissolved, as the members who signed them are released from obligation, and some of them are being asked to resign. The Premier says that he is not releasing them. They know that the Premier is not releasing them from their obligation to the other politicians to disavow the legislature without bothering with legislation. They do not want to accept $2,000 indemnities for a brief sentence, that would do nothing but drive financial bank because no government guarantee can be used without its own presence. They know that the "treason" of the government is to be a conservative election toy. They know that the Alberta government has defaulted on the payments of $20,000,000 in the past two years, and therefore is not a healthy risk for any depositor.

The provincial government's "infiltration" of the Alberta oil industry is a well-known fact. The government having started in 1938, and run all things in the oil industry since 1939. J. J. Praxley, K. C., of the Attorney General's department, has called a sitting for Monday of this week, to hear evidence of the Alberta oil industry.

The petroleum association, the Alberta Petroleum Producers' Association, A. A. McMillan, the mineral commission has made an exhaustive study of dozens of affidavits of the industry. In some cases the affidavits are so full of holes that the drilling for evidence far beyond the affidavits which Praxley had planned. It is expected that the commission's of production of wheat, which be done in four ways, by:— Lowering the cost of farm machinery.

Promoting a lowering of freight rates.
Adopting a sound financial policy in connection with the question of freight rates Mr. Liesemer stated that was a deliberate and definite distinction, and should not be forgotten.
He illustrated this statement by giving examples, two of these were of wire and canned goods, the freight on which was more than the cost of shipping points to Edmondson to Vancouver. Mr. Liesemer concluded his address by stating that the Government should not be speculating in the market for wheat, but for democracy abroad where are in danger of losing it at home.
He made reference to the renewal of the Act of Habeas Corpus by the Measures Act, and the unprecetion calling the election before actual conditions were known generally, which would have undoubtedly precipitated a conflict of opposed and confused opinion.

Unity, Policy Issues—
"What are the issues in this election? It seems to me that there are two real issues. Behind all the clashes of political conflict, the first issue concerns the future of the nation of Canada. On the first issue depends the second issue which is the whole policy of the government in the prosecution of the war. Both issues rise superior to personalities."

With the experience of the first great War as a guide, the present administration has planned carefully to carry out Canada's war effort in co-operation with the Allies, avoiding ex-

United Grain Growers Advocate Interim Payment

"The Board of Directors of United Grain Growers Limited desires to urge that ten Canadian Wheat Board be authorized to make a further distribution before seeding to Western wheat producers who have delivered wheat to the Board and that this should not be delayed until the whole wheat crop of nineteen thirty two has been sold. Such a payment if made in sufficient time before spring work opens will materially assist in enabling Western agriculture to contribute its maximum strength to national production during nineteen forty."

We would ask that such a payment be as large as possible in view of all existing circumstances and feel that an interim payment of not less than ten cents per bushel would be justified, with due consideration to the lower grades of wheat on which a larger payment may well be considered."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is John 4:24. One of the scriptural citations is "For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Romans 8:14). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is "As mortals begin to understand Spirit, they give up the belief that there is any true existence apart from God" (p. 283).

THE CHURCH AND COMMUNITY

The Christian church is called upon to fulfill its mission today amid a distraught and disunited mankind. "Humanity Eyed" is the title of a book on Russia, published a few years ago. That title, truly, is a description which might be applied to men and women everywhere. Modern man has been torn from his roots, torn from his true centre, God, and as a result community life in general, has been thrown into confusion and disintegration. The ideas which have given character and shape to modern Western civilization are in a state of flux. The old order with its traditional ideals, and loyalties and standards, is passing into something new, and what that new thing will be no man can say. We do not know what the future will bring. All that we can do is to open our minds to the momentous happenings of our time and try to understand them in the light of Christian faith.

The Church is not ignorant of these world-shaking changes that are taking place in the conditions of modern life and of the very serious difficulties which attend the practice of Christianity today. It offers no rule-of-thumb directions which will exempt men from thinking and making life. It does not seek to make light of present difficulties, nor does it find pleasure in condemning any who have failed to wrestle with them. But, with a full knowledge of the conditions, with the experience of victory in varying degrees, in the lives of its own members, and above all with faith in the wisdom and power of its Head, it emphatically rejects the contention that its standards are impracticable today and its discipline intolerable. For the Church, because of the very nature of its Gospel has within its grasp the possibilities of timely re-planting mankind and restoring the world to sanity. To do this, it must put forth fresh efforts to preach its message and fulfill its task.

The first task of the Church, now always is to make known the Gospel and to assert the claim of Jesus Christ, the incarnate word of God, to the Lordship of all human life and to bear witness in deed as well as in word to the higher way of life in Him. Its members must live their faith, for only as the Christian Gospel is brought into close relation to the realities and actual problems of the world today can we expect mankind to recognize it as a living word of judgment and redemption.

The Church is committed by its central affirmations to the belief that the life of man finds its meaning and fulfillment in a community of persons. God has spoken to us in His Son. He has revealed Himself through His Word. He adopts us as sons and admits us to a life of communion and personal intercourse with Himself. His Word to us is a word which binds us to our fellowmen and unites us with them in a community where love rules. God bids us serve Him as His free sons in the only way we can serve Him, by ministering to the needs of our fellow men. What we do to them we do to Him. The love of God and the love of our neighbour are inseparable. For the Christian, the worship and service of a personal God, whom we have learned to know as our Father, and relations of responsibility and love towards our fellow men — are the supreme and ultimate things.

It is this conviction that provides the inspiration and stimulus which send men and women to the service of their fellows in difficult and distasteful ways, and holds them to their chosen tasks.

Humanity is served, admittedly, by many who make no profession of allegiance to Christ; but it is from Him and His followers, none the less, that they have caught the desire to serve, and in the existence of the Church, there is a sustaining power which plays its part in their ministry, though they may entirely fail to recognize the fact. And around them is a vast army of Christian workers, far exceeding them in numbers, whose devotion is such that from them, if from no other section of society, volunteers will always be found to answer the call to necessary service, however lowly, and however unrewarded.

Nor should it be forgotten that Christianity makes for security, in the sense that, where it truly exists, and not mere mocking imitation of its fears of deceit and over-reaching are laid to sleep. Among Christians the weak, whether young or old, enjoy a position of advantage, possessions need no jealous guarding, woman's honour is safe, and life is revered. The mere theory of the thing is so generally accepted, that it is no longer thought of as specifically Christian. But it was the Church, through its teaching that secured the acceptance and it is the Church that causes it to come to pass — which is a greater work than the mere formulation of it as a desirable condition. With the rejection of the Church's moral standards and disciplinary system we may look in vain for other sufficient guarantees. Existing conditions in other countries where the Church and its teachings have been rejected or overruled speak for themselves. The existence of the opposition, in such countries may be the means of opening wide the eyes of the Universal Church to the depths and richness of the truth regarding man's life and destiny which has been committed to its charge. The church has been called in to existence by God, not for itself, but for the world.

It is, therefore, our duty as members of the Church within the local community, to take a more passionate and costly concern for the outcast, the underprivileged, the persecuted and the despised in our midst. In the face of pillage, brutality, hatred and race discrimination, in the world at large, the Church must seek to express God's concern for every man in his own neighbourhood to plan a healing and reconciling part in the conflicts and misunderstandings which arise between interests and classes within the community. This shall be plainly manifested to man kind in its choice and division, something of that peace and order of brotherly love which only comes from God and from Jesus Christ, His Son, our Lord.

Important Instructions
From Red Cross
Head Office
— 10:15 —
Although thousands of women start knitting as soon as war was declared, it took the arrival of winter blasts to make thousands more realize how much the fighting forces needed the articles that came from the knitting needles.

The need is still urgent, say Canadian Red Cross officials; and so, just in case there are women who would like to do their bit and don't know what is needed, here are some of the things recommended by this organization.
More detailed instructions may be obtained from local Red Cross group or from Toronto headquarters. Women are urged to follow all knitting instructions carefully; to use the right size needles, the correct weight of wool and always to try the number of stitches to be knitted to have the tension correct.

Do you favor the Army, the Air Force or the Navy? This is what each force needs —
ARMY — Socks may be of any suitable color. The new regulation length is 16 inches maximum from top of cuff to under heel. Sweaters are acceptable in all suitable colors.
Wristlets, four inches long, minimum. Scarves, 12 inches wide and 46 inches long. Hose and mitts, half mitts and rifle mitts, knitting should be done loosely on half mitts and rifle mitts to ensure perfect circulation in fingers. Khaki is the preferred color for all these articles.
AIR FORCE — The airman needs socks of the regular size in light blue, blue heather or black. Sweaters, air force blue or grey. Scarves, same length as those for the army, in air force blue or grey. Aero caps, gloves and wristlets, all air force blue.
NAVY — Seamen's stockings and scarves are needed badly. The stockings, which are worn over regular socks, are from 18 1/2 inches to 26 inches from cuff to cuff under heel; grey; should be loosely ribbed at top.

We regret to state that Miss Bernice Whitehead is taking an enforced holiday, suffering from an abscessed ear, she is now recovering, and we hope will soon be fully recovered.

Max Walls is a patient this week at the home of Mrs. Garrett, suffering from sinus trouble. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

On Monday Griffin, who narrowly escaped developing pneumonia last week, recovered somewhat over the week end. However as precautionary measures he was taken Tuesday to the Calgary General Hospital where it is hoped he will speedily regain his strength and health.

There is a tie between a father and son, says a speaker.
And if there is, you can bet that the son in wearing it.
Don Sarsons had just taken on the job of night watchman at an observatory.
He passed to watch a man peering through a large telescope. Just then a large star fell.
"Man alive!" exclaimed Don, "but you're sure a fine shot!"
English and French mannequins are to hold a contest.
The idea presumably, is to find out if a mink is as good as a mile.

Mr. Crellin, "Now Jack, pull yourself together. If the donkey's head points to the west, where does his tail point?" Jack Wilkinson: "Please air, to the ground."

He: "Do you remember me?"
She: "Well, you do seem rather fresh in my mind."

"Darling am I the first man you ever loved?"
"Yes, and the most awkward."

for the stockings are drawn up over the trousers.

Scarves, in navy blue or grey, 14 inches wide and 56 inches to 72 inches long. These scarves are wrapped around the sailor's bodies and are sometimes put over their heads to act as helmets. Ordinary socks for the sailors are needed in grey. Sweaters, navy blue or grey.

Wristlets for all forces should be cast on or off very loosely. All sweaters are sleeveless. Socks should be washed and pressed or washed and stretched. It is advisable to attach size of socks and sweaters.
